

ONLINE RESOURCE GUIDE

SPEECH THERAPY RESOURCES

American Speech-Language-Hearing Association

<https://www.asha.org/>

Includes information on roles and responsibilities in the field of Telepractice with sections on licensure, technology, privacy and security, etc.

---

Phonetics: The Sounds of American English

<https://soundsofspeech.uiowa.edu/home>

This site provides a description of speech sounds according to manner and placement of articulation.

---

Boom Cards

<https://wow.boomlearning.com/deckLibrary>

Use this site to create individualized online picture cards for free or you can choose to purchase pre-made card activities for a small fee.

---

Miro

<https://miro.com/>

Miro is an interactive online white board. You can sign up for the free version to create therapy activities that are individualized for your particular student's needs.

---

Speaking of Speech

<https://www.speakingofspeech.com/>

Contains a variety of speech therapy materials that can be downloaded for free.

---

Mommy Speech Therapy

<http://mommyspeechtherapy.com/>

This site includes charts, resources, and picture word lists at the word to sentence level.

Home Speech Home

<https://www.home-speech-home.com/>

Provides a variety of speech therapy resources and activity ideas as well as articulation lists at the word, sentence, and paragraph level.

---

ABCYa

<https://www.abcya.com/>

This site contains a host of speech and language activities for students Pre-K through 5th grade.

---

IXL Language Arts

<https://www.ixl.com/ela/>

This site offers a host of language materials that correspond to common core learning objectives. The materials are organized by grade level and include many activities appropriate for older students. Use the search function on the site to find activities by topic or view by grade level.

---

Education.com

<https://www.education.com/games/ela/>

Provides various games and activities to target phonological awareness and language concepts, including: letter sound relationships, segmenting, blending, grammar, context clues, reading comprehension, etc. *Requires sign up to access materials.

---

Testy Yet Trying

<https://testyetrying.blogspot.com/p/downloadprint-free-speech-articulation.html>

Provides free articulation materials including picture cards, sentence lists, simple articulation activities, and printable homework materials that are geared toward pre-k to elementary students.

---

Miss Lanes SLP Materials

<https://slpmaterials.blogspot.com/>

This SLP blog provides a variety of free worksheets, flash cards, and activities for speech therapy that can be utilized during therapy sessions or provided for homework practice.

---

IEP Goal Bank

<https://www.bridges4kids.org/IEP/iep.goal.bank.pdf>

Includes examples of various IEP goals and objectives organized by content area.

OCCUPATIONAL AND PHYSICAL THERAPY RESOURCES

Writing SMART Goals

<https://www.otschoolhouse.com/single-post/SMART>

Provides guidance on how to write measurable OT goals for school-based therapy, including information on relating goals to Common Core standards.

---

OT Toolkit Ideas

<https://www.theottoolbox.com/occupational-therapy-activity-kits/>

This article provides OT toolkit examples, with ideas on how to individualize the items to address each student's particular areas of need.

---

Therapy Street for Kids

<http://www.therapystreetforkids.com/fm-thumboppose.html>

Includes descriptions of various OT skills and recommended activities. Utilize the activities during sessions through use of an onsite facilitator, or you can use the activity ideas as recommendations for the caregiver as home practice.

---

Eye Can Learn

<http://eyecanlearn.com/>

Provides free activities and information to improve visual processing skills.

---

Your Therapy Source

<https://www.yourtherapysource.com/freestuff.html>

Activities, hand-outs, printables and information sheets for pediatric occupational and physical therapists

---

OT4Kids

<http://ot4kids.co.uk/occupational-therapy/resources/fun-for-kids#SENSORY%20PROCESSING>

Includes various activities and links for OT activities, such as keyboarding, visual processing, and sensory skills.

---

WATI

<http://www.wati.org/?pageLoad=content%2Flinks%2Fresources%2Findex.php>

Provides information on Assistive Technology and links to AT resources.

Tools to Grow

<https://www.toolstogrowot.com/>

This site offers free materials as well as a paid membership option with activities and resources to address fine motor, visual perception, self care, and more!

---

Miro

<https://miro.com/>

Miro is an interactive online white board. You can sign up for the free version to create therapy activities that are individualized for your particular student's needs.

---

OT School House

<https://www.otschoolhouse.com/starthere>

This site is created by a team of school-based OTs and provides webinars, podcasts, and occupational therapy resources.

---

Academy of Pediatric Physical Therapy

<https://pediatricapta.org/about-pediatric-physical-therapy/academy-pediatric-physical-therapy.cfm>

Provides education, resources, and information about evidence-based practice for physical therapists.

---

American Physical Therapy Association

<http://www.apta.org/>

Site for the APTA, includes podcasts, research, and information on ethics and professionalism in the field.

---

Therapy Fun Zone

<https://therapyfunzone.net/blog/category/pt/>

Includes a host of therapy ideas to address range of motion, strengthening, gross motor, and gait.

---

The Inspired Treehouse

<https://theinspiredtreehouse.com/about/>

This site is created by an OT and PT duo. It features resources and therapy ideas for development of motor skills in children.

GoNoodle

<https://app.gonoodle.com/login>

This engaging and interactive site offers fun videos for movement practice to address coordination, body awareness, and gross motor skills. Requires a free sign up to access the materials.

COUNSELING RESOURCES

American Counseling Association

<https://www.counseling.org/>

Professional online resource for the ACA, American Counseling Association

---

American School Counselor Association

<https://www.schoolcounselor.org/>

Provides professional development, research, and advocacy to professional school counselors.

---

Center on the Social and Emotional Foundations for Early Learning

http://csefel.vanderbilt.edu/resources/training\_modules.html

This site offers materials that promote children's social and emotional development and aim to prevent challenging behaviors.

---

Intervention Central

<https://www.interventioncentral.org/behavioral-intervention-modification>

Provides free resources to help struggling learners, including resources for behavior intervention strategies.

---

Association for Positive Behavior Support

<https://www.apbs.org/>

This site promotes research-based strategies for positive behavior supports.

---

Therapist Aid

<https://www.therapistaid.com/therapy-worksheets>

Includes a host of free resources and worksheets to address a variety of social-emotional issues for children and adolescents.

GAMES FOR POSITIVE REINFORCEMENT

Funbrain

<https://www.funbrain.com/>

This site contains many simple turn-taking games that can easily be incorporated into practice/work activities during therapy sessions with younger students.

---

Color, Draw, and Paint

https://www.abcya.com/games/abcya\_paint

Utilize as a simple reinforcer or reward during sessions for students who like to draw!

---

Mathisfun

<https://www.mathsisfun.com/>

Not just for math! Click on the Games section to discover many activities that can keep older students engaged during your therapy sessions.

---

Animation Activity

<https://www.abcya.com/games/animate>

This fun activity can be used as a reinforcer or reward during sessions for students who like to get creative! Be sure to watch the tutorial on the site to learn how to utilize the activity.

---

PBSKids

<https://pbskids.org/>

This site offers a variety of fun and educational games that can be incorporated into therapy activities to keep students motivated throughout the session.

---

Online Spinner

<http://www.superteachertools.us/spinner/>

You can customize this online spinner with various colors and values on the wheel. Then use with an on-screen gameboard (such as one you upload to an online whiteboard) for interactive play. You can also use the spinner as a fun way to determine how many practice rounds a student must do during therapeutic activities.